

GALILEO Tutorial Quiz

1-6-2009

Answer the following questions using the tutorial called “What is GALILEO?” available at http://www.usg.edu/galileo/skills/unit05/galileo05_01.phtml. Use the next button at the top of the screen to move through the tutorial.

1. GIL tells you what? _____

2. GALILEO tells you what? _____

3. GALILEO is accessible via the web from the following URL: _____

4. GALILEO's database section allows you to search what? Name three things.

5. To search a specific database, click on _____

6. The “more >>” at the end of a database name links to a screen when you click on it. What type of information does it give you? _____

7. What do a citation and a citation with abstracts include? _____

8. What should you use when constructing a search, besides your keywords or search terms?

9. Sometimes the full text of an article is not available in a database, what three places would you look to find the article and what are they? _____

10. Where do you go to find out your GALILEO password? _____

